

The Charting Just Transition Pathways towards a Sustainable Future Community of Practice will:

- Share knowledge, and scientific research relating to the design and implementation of socially inclusive approaches to advancing the SDGs and the 2030 Agenda, including along just transition pathways.
- Encourage the critical exchange of ideas based on the latest research to advance understanding, policies, and practical measures designed to foster socially inclusive and just transitions.
- Share good practices for building strong, inclusive, and cohesive coalitions to advance along transition pathways.
- Identify areas for cooperation, possible joint projects, and partnerships.
- Foster collaboration on research into how just transition plans, policies, and practices can accelerate progress towards a sustainable future.
- Share and develop tool kits to facilitate the implementation of policies and practical solutions designed to ensure no one is left behind in advancing towards SDG implementation.
